It's a note from the principal ...

Dear Werner Community,

We are off to a great start despite the heat! Having our students back and excited to start a new school year has been great. Thanks so much for your support and efforts to help your child transition well.

As we start this school year, we have many new things to be excited about. First, we have a newly updated library thanks, in part, to PTA and your generous donations over the years. Mrs. Powers worked really hard over the summer to make it look great once our contractors finished installing new carpet, shelves, tables, and chairs. Look for more info from Mrs. Powers about the project in this newsletter. Second, we have a new literacy program, Imagine Learning EL Education, to support teaching Reading/Writing for K-5th. It is a complete structured literacy program that is systematic and sequential. The new program was selected after a vigorous selection process last year. Our teachers have been working hard with implementation and attending training sessions. We are excited to use this new program and better support our students with literacy!

As we head into September, we look forward to having you attend our Back-to-School nights. These nights are important for our teachers to build relationships with you and share what the year will look like. Thanks for your support in attending these. We also have some BIG Events for our community. Our 4th/5th Grade Werner Jazz Cat Choir will be singing the National Anthem at the Colorado Rockies game on September 2. Then, our Tour de Cat has been postponed to Sept. 15. Last, our biggest event of the year, Fall Fun(d) Festival and Talent Show, will be held Sept. 29 from 4:00-7:30. We look forward to seeing you all at these great events!

Counseling Corner:

Welcome back to another great school year. For those who do not know me, I am the School Counselor at Werner. My name is Julie Flemister and my office is located just west of the cafeteria. I am fortunate to teach in each classroom about different social skills, including but not limited to, getting along skills, conflict resolution, bully proofing, mindfulness, and Acts of Kindness.

My focus this year will be on peaceful resolution of conflicts, gratitude, and kindness. Students will be learning about the powerful impact of kindness within in their classroom, Werner, and our community. Building a kind environment will hopefully encourage tolerance, respect, empathy, and lead to peaceful resolutions.

I also have lunch with many of the students, so please do not be alarmed if your student comes home and says they had lunch with the counselor. I feel it so important to know each student, so if something does come up, they are comfortable coming and talking with me. I also help in crisis, talking with students, and working with parents on helping their child feel successful in school.

Please let me know if you need resources in our community. I have some amazing sources for what life can throw us at times. My email is iflemist@psdschools.org.

I also refer to Love and Logic as a parent and as a counselor. The following article is taken from their email resources. I am consistently working on demonstrating kindness for my own children so that they may pass it forward to their peers and teachers. Kindness is a gift to all!

The Best Gift for a Teacher

Of course, all of us dedicated educators want to be appreciated for our hard work, long hours, and willingness to be exposed to every germ known to humankind. It's nice to be appreciated for the fact that we choose to love kids even when they behave badly and produce noxious fumes. It's great to be appreciated for the fact that we take classrooms full of kids with different needs, abilities, behaviors, and troubles and turn them into high-powered learning teams.

Great teachers are amazing!

The best gift we can give them involves our own parenting. The most wonderful display of our appreciation is to send them students truly ready to be respectful, responsible, and eager to learn. No doubt this gift also benefits our children, who will rise to the top when equipped with such character attributes.

Listed below are just a few things you can do:

- Make sure that your kids overhear you saying positive things about their school and their teachers.
- Ensure that they are doing chores without reminders at home, so that they know how to do assignments without reminders at school.
- Allow very little time with technology, including video games, texting, surfing the web, watching videos, television, etc. These activities make it more difficult for our children to remain calm and content at school.
- Have family meals together, where you enjoy each other and talk about all the things you've learned during the day.

Thanks for reading, and thanks for raising great kids who have what it takes to benefit from the privilege of schooling!

Dr. Charles Fay

Mindful Family Dinner Table Idea:

Check-In with a Simple Question

Having a simple question that speaks to each of our experience is a great way to be present for each other amidst the busy-ness of family life. What do each of us most fundamentally need and want? Love and attention. Kindness and presence. Most of our lives are packed full, with many demands on our time. Just pausing to give each other our presence is a powerful gift. We are frequently given feedback by both children and parents that doing these Family Check-in activities is a highlight for them. Below are some of our favorites. Tip: these are also wonderful questions for bedtime.

- Highs & Lows: Share your highs and lows of the day or the week.
- Gratitude: Share three things you are grateful for. It can be a thing, person, animal, or activity.
- Sharing appreciations: Each family member goes around the table and shares one thing they appreciate about each person.
- Bucket filling: How did you fill someone's 'bucket' today? How did someone else fill your bucket?

Werner's Wonderful New Library

I just want to say thank you again to all the Werner families that made our new library a possibility through fundraising over the years. It looks fabulous with our new carpet, shelves, furniture, and decorations. The feedback from students has been extremely positive. We can't wait to start using it!

I also want to introduce Katie Salter as the new media and health tech paraprofessional. She will be helping with the day to day running of the library - checking in books, shelving, and completing special projects. She will also be helping with some book checkout with the students.

Looking forward to a great year filled with an abundance of reading!

Fall Fun(d) Festival 2023

Dear Wildcat Families,

We're so excited to host this year Fall Fun(d) Festival featuring a school wide Talent Show and Silent Auction to help fundraise for our school! This funds earned through this event will go directly to our teachers classroom budgets!

To increase the excitement and school spirit of this event, we're hoping to provide each student with a FREE custom Werner Elementary t-shirt to wear the day of the Fall Festival (and year long!), at no cost to the student or school.

In order to make this happen, we need your help! We're hoping to partner with local businesses to help sponsor these shirts. If you know of, or are affiliated with, a business that would be interested in sponsoring shirts for our students, please email ptawernerelementary@gmail.com by Aug. 31st, so we have time to include the name or logo of the business on the back of the shirt. The company name will also be included in the Event Flyer for our Talent Show. Every student in the school will be given these shirts the week before the Fall Fun(d) Festival and they will get to tie-dye them with their classmates! They will be sent home and all students will be encouraged to wear them the day of the Fall Fun(d) Festival and they often wear them throughout the rest of the year too. We will also include the name or logo in our business sponsor spotlight on our Facebook page.

Thank you for your help!
